Grayling is again operating officially on Central Standard time, or railroad time. The change from daylight saving time to slow time took effect, beginning Sunday morning.

It is quite surprising to note quite a number of people objecting to the change while others approve it.

Paul Jungmann of Deward saw a thrilling sight when he ran onto a group of four cub bears on the highway between Grayling and Frederic. He slowed up his car to view the animals when he discovered another bear coming out of a small near by.

He says the animals showed no signs of fear and took plenty of time to get back into the brush. It is seldom that one is privileged to see so large a group of cub bears at one time and a scene that almost anyone would be glad to witness.

Ask these questions before buying a Cabinet Heater

Will it heat the entire house—upstairs and down—in zero weather? Does it take the place of two or three stoves? Does it have a cast iron heating unit of the furnace type? Does it have an 84-pound fire pot; an inner casing? Does it have only one joint above fire bed? Is it good looking? Will it reduce fuel bills? Will it save work, time, and footsteps? And you'll decide on a Sunbeam Cabinet Heater.

Thursday, September 18, 1902
Born—Wednesday, September 17, to Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bates, a daughter.

Miss Althea McIntyre was visiting friends at Roscommon last week, and with them visited Higgins Lake from Monday to Saturday.

The ice man's team got frisky a few days since, and ran away, nearly demolishing the wagon and spilling a load of ice.

John Love's—Bardus—barley gave him fourteen bushels to the acre, and the grain weighed sixty pounds to the bushel.

Mrs. C. B. Beaulin (nee Miss Rose Charron) was a welcome visitor to town last week from her new home in Grand Marais.

Seeding to wheat and rye is progressing finely, and considerable corn has been cut, though but little will be thoroughly ripened. The frost in places has done considerable injury.

Mrs. Nels Johnson of Maple Forest brought in a pair of blackberries the first of the week which were the largest we ever saw. Thanks.

Miss Leah Goupil has gone to town for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mickelson. She made love to the baby while at the lake this summer, and thus became a necessity in the family.

Court convened for the September term, Monday, Judge Sharpe presiding.

Mrs. Adelbert Taylor and family are enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. of Oswego, N. Y., who is here for the first time with her husband and daughter.

Mrs. T. E. Douglas entertained a number of her young lady friends at tea, September 11th, in honor of her sister, Miss Marguerite Husted of West Branch and Miss Campbell of Barryton, Mich.

Thos. Woodford, a former well known resident here, now of Jackson, dropped off for a day last week, on a business trip among the lumbering towns of this part of the state. "Tom" is growing older but has the old jolly laugh and can tell a good story.

A man in a neighboring town who took a city paper in preference to a country paper because he got more paper for the money, was attracted by the advertisement of a fire escape which would be forwarded on receipt of $2.00. He sent the cash and a few days received a copy of the New Testament.

Salling, Hanson & Co. have resumed work on the salt well. They finished pulling the tubing last Saturday night and are ready to proceed with the drill, which they propose to send down a few hundred feet and shoot the well if needed, after they see what they can find. They know they have strong brine, but want more of it.

In the millinery shapes for early autumn, says the October Delicieux, the most conspicuous favorite is the trim with low-crowned crown and trim turned up straight all around, of the same height as the crown. The Marquise or tricorn shape will be popular in felt and also in velvet and beaver, and wings, braids and pom-poms will be the trimmings chiefly employed. The sweeping ostrich plumes will be used to adorn dress hats, black and white being the usual choice. Hats made entirely of shaded Autumn leaves are especially suited to the season.

A young hobo giving his name as James Paine, and his home at South Bend, Ind., was caught last Friday, stealing a coat in the lumber shed near the planing mill. T. W. Hanson saw him in the act, and caught him after a long chase. T. being a sprinter, A. jury before Justice McCulloch, Saturday, said guilty and he will board at the expense of the county twenty days.

John Love has the sympathy of the community. He lives in the worthless town of Beaver Creek which the commission proposes to reclaim by putting into the forestry reserve. Nevertheless, he sowed last fall on first breaking, three bushels and a half of "Dawson's Golden Wonder" on three and a quarter acres of land, and has just threshed from it ninety-seven bushels of as fine wheat as any man wants.

The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under the law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," and have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest and fine, the same as for theft.

Johannesburg, Mich.
Editor Avalanche: It may be of some interest to yourselves as well as to the subscribers of the Avalanche, to know what this section of Northern Michigan is good for. The hay-crop was very large, averaging a ton and a half of as fine timothy hay as was ever raised on an acre of ground. Wheat and oats turned out first class. Mr. Jas. Paquin threshed 913 bushels wheat from 6 1/2 acres of land, averaging 31 1/2 bushels per acre; also 265 bushels oats from 7 1/2 acres, averaging 32 1/2 bushels per acre. Mr. John Hanson raised 175 bushels of wheat on 4 acres, averaging 44 bushels per acre; and 265 bushels oats from four acres, being an average of 66 bushels per acre. The farmers around here are all blessed with an abundant harvest, demonstrating that it pays well to farm on the lands surrounding Johannesburg.

Yours truly,
Sept. 11. Julius K. Merz.

Little Talk On Thrift

(By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.)

It cannot be denied that the practice of thrift means personal inconvenience at times. They mean that the truly thrifty man or woman must sometimes surrender the soft comforts and alluring pastimes which mean so much to many.

But it is much better to give up a few of these things during the years when we are strong, and in good health than to face poverty and distress when our old years are upon us.

Thrift is an investment in happiness that pays large dividends. Present pastimes last for a day and are forgotten but the joys of thrift abide with us as long as we live.

Thrift is an insurance policy against failure. Those who practice it consistently and truly may not gain the great heights of success but they will always hold an honored, respected place in the affairs of men.

One of life's greatest tragedies is to become dependent in the autumn of life. Life's most poignant source of worry to many is the fear that when they shall have reached old age they shall be dependent on the bounty of others.

Conversely, there is constant happiness and contentment of mind to those who practice thrift because they know that the serene days of old age will be lived in financial independence.

There is a world of difference between the outlook of those who are making no provision for the future and those who are "slowly, steadily" building up their personal resources. The difference is so great that one wonders how it is possible for any sensible person to drift along to certain failure when a comparatively small effort and sacrifice will place them on the roadway to independence.

HOW SWINDLERS MARK THEIR PREY

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

IN the field of fake investments suckers are graded according to their reaction to the appeal of glittering schemes. A name on a sucker list of investors may have a valuation anywhere from zero to $100.

If your name is on the list and it is known that you invariably "investigate before you invest," your name is checked to indicate that you are too hard to sell to be worth cultivating further, but if you invest first and investigate afterward, your name is checked to indicate that you are easily swindled and for this reason your name is worth $100—not to you, but to the owner of the list, for the names of those who invest without investigating are choice prospects and sell readily to promoters.

Certain names on a sucker list are checked to indicate "easy picking," and by this is meant that in addition to being ignorant on investments, those checked are not disposed to ask advice of their banker but go ahead and invest in anything from gold bricks to stock in some proposed company for the exploration of diamond fields on Mars.

Those whose names are listed are what might be called marked investors—investors who have been marked to have their savings taken from them by unwarranted promises of fabulous riches.

If your name is on the sucker list and you are receiving "wild-cat" literature, be on your guard, for not only one but a whole tribe of "wild-cat" promoters are hot on your trail. If you are skeptical as to the extent to which they will go in order to sell you an interest in their fake schemes the following should prove illuminating, as it itemizes the literature and stationery sent to each name on a certain sucker list of investors. This literature was mailed in 91 different mailings. Each person received:

- 125 envelopes
- 12 one-page letters
- 22 two-page letters
- 6 three-page letters
- 2 four-page letters
- 52 fake newspapers containing fake write-ups
- 39 pieces of highly lurid prospectus material
- 34 return addressed postal cards
- 72 subscription blanks

Making a total of 362 pieces of literature weighing 11 pounds and costing approximately $50. In addition to this there were numerous telephone calls and personal interviews.

Any person receiving a flood of literature such as this is sure to be a sucker. That is, he is so foolish as to let temptation shown them by men having investments to offer. The fact is, instead of a commitment being paid them, it is a reflection on their ability to judge between a good investment and one of the bunkum variety.

If you want to draw the attention of dealers in sucker lists and of promoters of various kinds, let it be known that you have a savings bank account or good securities and you will be the object of a very vigorous campaign to relieve you of those savings.

It is always well to remember that the irresponsible promoter specializes on swindling savings depositors, changing his fake investments for their bank account, which is always worth 100 cents on the dollar. Of the numerous bait schemes used to swindle the public the trading of equities in real estate is among the most successful from the promoter's standpoint.

From the owner's standpoint a trade usually means getting into deeper water financially—going further into debt.

Here's how it works. If you have an equity in a piece of property, which equity you would like to be relieved of, some promoter will offer to give you credit for your equity on the purchase price of a certain piece of property or on the purchase of certain hot air stocks.

In the first place the swindler actually allows you nothing for your equity as he marks up the price of what he is selling you a like amount with the result that you lose your equity on one hand and get yourself into a less desirable deal on the other. Proceed slowly, if you are approached with a proposition to trade an equity. It may not be exactly what you prefer, but holding the equity is far ahead of holding the sack after some swindler has dealt with you.

Signature calling attention to certain investment chances has a good reason for watching his step lest he weaken and invest and finally lose his savings. If you are receiving "wild-cat" investment literature it is a good indication that your name is on a sucker list and that it, with other names, is being sold to irresponsible promoters and consequently you may expect to continue to receive literature of the get-rich-quick variety.

You Never See Gasoline

It goes into your tank through a hose—you take it on trust. You can't examine it. Only a chemist can analyze it. The brand and the company back of the brand are all you have to go on.

If you buy unbranded gasoline, you buy a product which no company vouches for. You may save a few pennies in the purchase price, but it will cost you more in the end.

It is wiser to buy a known product—a branded product—with the backing of a company with a reputation to sustain. Your car represents a big investment. It is worthy of your care. It requires dependable fuel.

You are protecting your car investment to the utmost when you buy Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline or Red Crown Gasoline. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is back of them. It is proud to claim them and proud to assume responsibility for the way they work in your car.

Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline makes the engine quick to obey, powerful, speedy and smooth. It costs a few cents more but it "knocks out that knock."

Our famous economy fuel, Red Crown Gasoline, will give you a maximum of power at a minimum of expense without the anti-knock factor.

It pays to buy brands known for dependability—Red Crown Ethyl and Red Crown.

Farm Bureau Notes

R. D. Bailey, Co. Agricultural Agent

"When we build, let us think that we build forever. Let it not be for a moment, but for a permanent home. Let it be such work as our descendants will thank us for; and let us think, as we lay stone on stone, that a time is to come when those stones will be held sacred because our hands have touched them, and that men will say, as they look upon the labor and wrought substance of them: 'See! This our Fathers did for us.'"

Did You Go To The Fair?

I do not mean any particular fair, I wish it might have been the wonderful State Fair at Detroit; or, that at Saginaw or Bay City. All three are fine and instructive. But, I know how hard it is for any of us to get someone to do the chores so that we can go.

However, there are good country fairs that we can visit in one day and get home not too late at night.

We ought to visit one or more such fairs. A farmer, who has planned well and worked hard the rest of the year, has a good right to go. His wife and children have this right, too. Going takes lots of kinks out of us. We dress up. We put the car in best possible condition. We forget care for a day. We meet friends and make new ones. We see what the other farmer can produce in grain, corn, hog, quickly matured dairy cattle well developed for their age by care and intelligent feeding. We cheer and thrill at the ball game; eat "hot dogs" and coffee; shake hands with friends "not seen for five years; watch the horse-pulling contest; guess what animal will take first prize; if we venture into the "Midway," learn that it is hard to beat the other fellow at his own game, as well as that "all suckers are not dead yet." Our little children have ridden the merry-go-round and had taffy candy and colored balloons to their satisfaction. We are proud from home

Health News

(By County Nurse)

Keep this in your register for reference, Sept., 1927:
Crawford county, under the auspices of the American Red Cross, employs one public health nurse, Miss Ethel Keeran, who began her duties in September, 1927.

Miss Keeran says: "A large part of my work is in the schools. Notify me if it is not possible to visit schools often, I must count on you to be interested in maintaining a high health standard among your pupils. Following are some suggestions that may help you. Will you please do your best to carry out as many of the following suggestions as possible? These have been discussed and approved by the committee and also have Mr. Payne's heartiest endorsement."

1. The pleasure of borrowing the following book for use as a text and reference book in health work, "Health Training in Schools," by Thomas D. Keenan, may be borrowed or purchased at the health center; others may be purchased at the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, 535 Capitol Ave., Lansing, Mich.

2. (a) Cleaning. Dusting with a dampened or oiled cloth is more satisfactory. (b) If no sweeping compound is supplied, the floor may be sprinkled with water before sweeping. (c) An oiled floor is well worth the trouble and expense. (d) It is as important to keep the toilets clean as it is the school room. Toilet paper is imperative.

3. Temperature and Ventilation. (a) The pupils will be assisted and disciplined and the attention will be better if the temperature is 68 to 70 degrees. (b) Much fuel is wasted in overheating. (c) Ventilation is as important as temperature.

4. Water. (a) If you feel the well water needs testing, let me know. (b) Beware of drinking water from a cask in which the lips touch the cup. (c) Do not drink from a cask that has been used for anything but water. (d) A yard of oilcloth makes the wash bench more attractive. (e) The children might take turns keeping the bench and basin clean. (f) If you have a pail, have a cover and a dipper. (g) Do not use a cask for anything but water. (h) School boards are willing to buy paper toilet paper but do not want them wasted.

(i) Common towels and cups are prohibited by law. 5. Food. (a) A shelf or cupboard for lunch boxes. (b) Food and milk will not spoil, if desirable. (c) The effort of having the children wash before eating is worth while. (d) Being seated at a table is beneficial to the teacher's nerves, the pupils' digestion and the cleanliness of the floor. (e) The type of lunch brought may be influenced by a faculty comment and praise, with special emphasis on milk.

6. First Aid. (a) A tin box will protect your supplies from mice. (b) Have at least cotton, mercuriochrome or iodine, bandage and adhesive. (c) Additional supplies—safety pins, needle and thread, oil of cloves for toothache, toothpaste, penicillin for handkerchiefs, scissors, tweezers, vaseline. (d) A book on First Aid will be sent to any child who is interested enough to write for it.

7. Physical Defects. (a) Urge the correction of defects and the practice of good health habits, such as brushing teeth, regular bathing, etc. (b) Daily inspection often accomplishes much in this respect. (c) Contagion. (a) Control, to the best of your ability, the spread of contagion by excluding suspicious cases from school and reporting to the nurse any cases lacking proper medical care or quarantine. (b) A nurse may be called in cases of diphtheria, smallpox, chickenpox and scarlet fever, Ethel Keeran, County Nurse % Burke's Garage.

1 glass of milk equals 2 potatoes, 1 glass of milk equals 2 eggs. 2 quarts of milk equals 10 pounds of meat or a half a loaf of bread. Milk may not be used as a beverage if it is not fresh. Milk may be combined into foods, soups or sauces for vegetables or in cooking cereals instead of water.

The children in school are talking a great deal about milk. They have probably told you that they should drink at least a quart of milk each day, because milk is the best food they can get.

From one quart of milk one child will get (1) Strong bones. (2) Strong teeth. (3) Strong muscles. (4) Few colds. (5) A growing force which makes weak bodies grow strong. It would take several other kinds of food, and cost more to do for him what one quart of milk will do. You cannot afford to let him do without it.

We wish to cooperate with the parents in helping the child. We are beginning the 19th of September to see that every school child (whose

If any child wishes to bring his own one-half pint of milk and drink it at a regular time with the group, he is privileged to do so. It is not only the milk but regularity also that does the most good for the nourishment of the child.

We are expecting Dr. Davis from the State Department of Health to be in our community some time this fall to teach us oral sepsis and dental hygiene. He will be here, one day only, so everyone should watch for the date and place and keep the time open to hear him.

Every person who has teeth should visit the dentist at least once every six months to see if his teeth are in good condition, and have all defects remedied.

A child one year old is not too young to begin. The first teeth, and why preserve them—this is necessary for the proper development of the face, and to make space for the larger second teeth.

Children's diseases occur, as a rule, just at the greatest period in a child's life, when the first teeth are being replaced by the second. A child with an unclean mouth is inviting these diseases, and is also a menace to the community, so guard the gateway to the body—the mouth—and so protect the child.

WATCH OUT FOR SNAKES

(By Edwin Greer, President Greer School of Electrical and Automotive Trades, Chicago, Ill.)
Whiskey, whether of the home or foreign persuasion taken after a rattlesnake bite is a means to an end—the bitten. If you want to finish the job begun by a diamond-back rattler, take alcoholic stimulant right after being bitten, I advise.

For the benefit of those who travel in Southern California and Arizona I will present a list of those reptiles and insects that are to be feared, and those which are to be treated as friends. Trying to set at rest the unreasonable fear of Easterners who give the hot sands a wide berth because of the friendly Gila monster, his lizard cousins, the joyous vinegar quacker, tarantula, scorpion, none of which can inflict a wound that hurts more than a bee sting.

Deadly poisonous: All rattlesnakes, the Sonoran coral snake, small black spider with red or white markings. Mildly poisonous: Bees, wasps and ants. Gila monster, cone-nosed blood-sucker, tarantula, scorpion, large Mexican centipede.

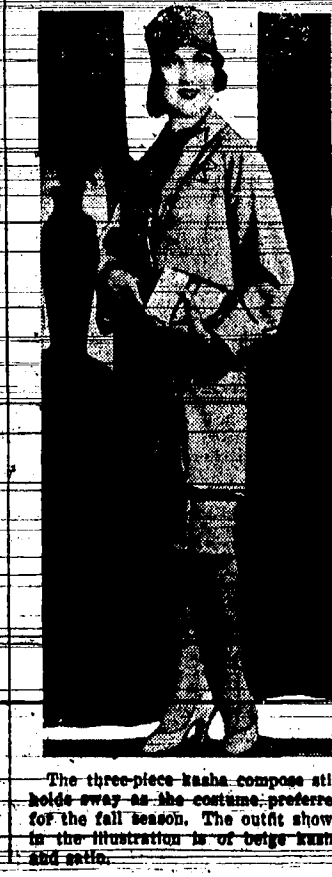

Non-poisonous: All lizards, vinegar, praying mantis or "mule killer," "child of the desert" or sand cricket, skunks.

All rattlesnakes are deadly enemies of man and really the only reptiles or insects to be greatly feared. The small black spiders were included in the category of deadly animals because one death—that of a Mexican child in Tucson, was traced to the bite of such an insect. Others bitten by these spiders recovered after variously described painful symptoms. Carry a safety razor blade, a small bottle of crystals of potassium permanganate and a strong rubber band when you camp in the open spaces, as protection against rattler bite. If bitten, keep cool above all; wind the rubber band tightly above the wound, cut across the fang wound with the razor blade, deeper than the fangs penetrated, about one inch both ways. Bleed the wound as rapidly as possible, wash with diluted permanganate of potash and call a doctor.

At this point large doses of whiskey are not only not useful as a remedy, but positively harmful. It aids the spread of the poison. Small doses of good whiskey at the proper time, if the patient grows faint, may be of service.

GARDENS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I HAD never seen Mrs. Dixon's garden until last spring. We had met her up in Wisconsin where Nancy and I were spending the summer, and had found a community of interest in discussing the subject of gardens. She knew a lot about flowers, and apparently found a source of the keenest enjoyment in their cultivation.

Mrs. Dixon herself was a very talkative little woman and rather a showy one. Her talk was fluent rather than well organized. She rushed from one subject to another without announcement or reason, and yet she always made a good effect. Her reading had been wide but a little shallow, but she could always make a showing of what she knew. Her dress always carried a flash of color. Even when she wore black she would have a scarlet flower at her waistline or her shoulder, or a bright-colored scarf thrown over her shoulders, or an ornament glittering in her hair. She always stood out in a crowd.

When I saw her garden I recognized at once how very much she and it were alike. It covered a wide expanse of planting, and everywhere there was color. There had been great masses of daffodils and crocuses in the earlier spring, but now that these were gone, poppies ran riot, purple verbena, gladioli, their color in your face, wide borders of petunias and giant gladioli were blooming luxuriantly. But there was no order, no plan apparent; things were growing as Mrs. Dixon talked—without regard for order or coherence. The garden was like the woman who created it, as children are like their parents—I should have been sure it was hers if I had been taken to it blindfolded, and the blind taken off without my knowing where I was.

Rowe's hobby is his garden, and Rowe is a bachelor who wears spats and carries a cane and gloves, and sees the world through eyeglasses which are attached to a wide ribbon that hangs over his ears. There is nothing out of order in Rowe's garden. Everything is in its place. There is no crowding, no clashing of colors, no mixture of flowers, which do not get on well together. No weed would dare to find its way into Rowe's garden, and even a human being uninvited would feel out of place and embarrassed lest he disturb the meticulous orderliness of the place. A plucked flower might disarrange the plan. It is a beautiful garden, but not a friendly, comfortable one like Mrs. Dixon's.

Mrs. Sweet's ancestors, so she alleges, came over on the Mayflower with that horde of adventurers of whom we read so much in our school histories. She belongs to the Daughters of the American Revolution and she traces her ancestry back almost to Adam. She, too, has a garden. Nothing more comes last. She examines carefully the ancestry of every seed or plant before it finds a place in her garden. Blood and breeding are of great moment with her, and she will have none of it, if a flower cannot present an acceptable genealogy.

All of which suggests that gardens take on the character of those who till them.

The business places of Grayling will be requested to close from 9:30 to 4:00 p. m. next week Friday during the time of the Grayling-Gladwin football game. Other cities do that to help the home team and we are sure our business men will gladly do the same. Grayling has a snappy team this year and everyone will want to take in the home games.

The Grayling Golf Club was minus $33 Monday morning, someone having stolen that amount sometime Sunday night. There have been a number of petty robberies reported during the past week but it won't be well for the intruder if they are caught. Just last week a couple of men were seen fumbling around cars that stood in driveways of some of our local residences.

We have a good assortment of Black Satin, light wools and Jersey dresses, in all sizes and colors. Redson & Cooley.

Tonight is the time of the great Tunney-Dempsey fight in Chicago, when it is estimated that 120,000 will be present. And all over the nation radios will be tuned in to a ring-side station. For several weeks sport circles have been running over with enthusiasm and many theories are advanced as to the outcome. The fight is scheduled to last ten rounds. Grayling radio owners have been doing up their instruments to be in readiness to get the reports. Mac & Gidley have put up an aerial at the mess hall on Division hill at the military reservation and will receive the returns at that place. This is done to get away from any possible disturbance that may mar the sport. Mr. McNamara says everyone will be well come to attend and there is no charge whatever, and should it rain the crowd will be out of the storm. The time is 8:30 slow time.

How about a new coat? We have them. Redson & Cooley.

Some changes in the management of Grayling Mercy hospital have taken place during the last week. Sister Mary Leo of Grand Rapids, who was the mother superior of Grayling Mercy hospital during the interval of August 12, 1912 and January 6, 1915 has been returned as superintendent. Many will remember Sister M. Leo and will be pleased to meet her again. She says that she notices many fine improvements since her time here. Also Sister M. Clement of Bay City and Sister M. Rachel of Grand Rapids are other new sisters at the hospital. Sister Raymond has been transferred to Grand Rapids, while Mother M. Agnes, Sisters M. Stella, M. Helen and M. Josephus are still here.

A fine assortment of children's school shoes at the Economy Store. Call and let us show you before you buy.

No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned some.

Where in its columns. This applies to all kinds of business—general stores, dry goods, groceries, furniture dealers, mechanics, professional men, druggists, and in fact all classes of business men. This does not mean that you should have a whole or half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at the business mention in the paper. This is the best possible form of advertisement. Michigan Memorial Church

John Wilfred Greenwood, Minister

September 25, 1927 Services will begin on Central Standard time, or railroad time. The morning worship at 10:30 a. m. Theme "Nature as God." Sunday School session at 11:45 a. m. High School students are urged to join the Young People's class.

At 7:00 p. m. the Epworth League meets and at 8:00 p. m. the pastor will bring a message on "The keynote of the Detroit Conference." Don't miss these services.

A Thought for the Week "If everyone were just like me, What kind of church would my church be?"

That's worth repeating quite often. So often in our criticisms of the church, we are fighting shadows. At a serious sign when in quaker fashion, we say, "All are wrong, except me and Jane, and sometimes I have my doubts about Jane!"

Once a man came to me to have me conduct a funeral. He knew I would try and do that which would comfort, I want to him in his hour of sorrow. After the funeral was over he came and offered me $5.00 for my services. I refused to take it.

Why? He had lived in that community for years. He had sold real estate at a good profit, basing his ad, "Very close to school and church." He ignored the church in attendance. He refused to make possible its program through his financial aid, and now he felt that $5.00 paid on the occasion of a funeral paid his honest debt to the church and gave him an easier conscience.

So I refused. But not until I had suggested that his debt was to the church and not to me. He owed the church his attendance. He owed the church financial aid. There would have been no church if all had attended as he did. Forsaking assembling themselves together as the manner of some. There would have been no minister or priest in town if all had supported the church financially as he had done.

He took the $5.00 to the church treasurer. He signed a pledge card. He attends regularly. He is now one of God's gentlemen.

If everyone were just like me, What kind of church would my church be?"

HIGH SCHOOLS TO DEBATE PRIMARY ELECTION SYSTEM

The Michigan High School Debating League was organized by the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan in 1917, and this year begins its eleventh year of activity.

Any four year high school in the state may become a member of the league by sending a fee of two dollars to G. E. Denmore, Manager, League of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Applications for membership will be received up to, and including, October 22nd.

Debates are sponsored by the League, and each school will participate in the four preliminary debates of the League. Those schools winning the highest records in the preliminary debates will enter the elimination series which will be a series of debates between the schools to schools which will come to Ann Arbor for the state championship debate on April 26, 1928.

The dates for the preliminary debates will be as follows: First—November 18, 1927. Second—December 9, 1927. Third—January 13, 1928. Fourth—January 27, 1928.

The question that will be debated this year is: Resolved, That the Direct Primary System of Nominating Candidates for Public Office in the United States Should be Abolished.

Enrollments for the League are coming in rapidly. Many new schools, never before in the League, have applied for membership this year. The enrollment today is ahead of the enrollment a year ago today, and it is expected that the enrollment for this year will exceed the total enrollment of last year which numbered 235 high schools.

Last year these 235 high schools held over five hundred debates in which over a thousand high school pupils participated. The attendance at all of these debates was one hundred thousand.

In the final state championship debate held at Ann Arbor on 11th last, Ann Arbor high school won first honors and Albion high school won second honors.

The audience assembled for this state championship debate numbered three thousand people, representatives of the different high schools of the state, which is the largest audience that ever attended a championship debate of the League. Eighty-one high schools of the state were represented by one or more delegates at the state championship debate.

WARNS PUBLIC AGAINST THE DANGEROUS WATER HEATER

Indus of small tin "electric" water heaters into the city is worrying George E. Cotton, city inspector, who warns the public not to purchase them because they are dangerous to life and property.

The heaters, small in size and bearing no marks of the manufacturer, sell for $4 each and many have been sold at doors in villages north of Grand Rapids.

"These heaters require too much power, may kill with their high voltage, may burn because of the manner in which they are made and are sure to blow tubes when used," warned the inspector. "They are so dangerous I want to give housewives a tip not to buy them."—Grand Rapids Press.

Apparently the same parties have been working in Grayling and sold many heaters to local residents. The above advice from a disinterested public official would seem worthy of consideration. Should the heaters be dangerous in the homes they might better be discarded. At least owners should heed the warning by careful examination and test.

But it's usually a heap more uncomfortable when the whole truth is told.

Every young lady should know how to flirt.

In order, of course, to know how to refrain from doing it.

Word to the young men—if you would be truly humble, get married.

A delegate is usually a fellow who has been instructed to vote a certain way, but seldom understands the reason why.

Speaking of the descent of man—it doesn't matter so very much what we descended from, it's what we descend to that's of vital importance.

BENNETT TAVERN, NEW HUB BARD LAKE RESORT

(By E. M. T. Service) One of the outstanding resort developments of this year is that of E. Bennett, on the East Bay of Hubbard Lake, a lake which heretofore has received considerable attention from fishermen but little from resorters.

The Bennett Tavern is located on property in juxtaposition to Hubbard Lake, a lake which heretofore has received considerable attention from fishermen but little from resorters.
